U.S. GREEN BUILDING COUNCIL

The U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC), a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, is a community of more than 6,900 organizations from every sector of the building industry united by a common purpose: to transform the building marketplace to sustainability.

A statewide 'leadership team' has been working diligently since April 2005 to establish the Louisiana Chapter of the United States Green Building Council. We are pleased to now have an organization in place that will offer support and education to those individuals, organizations and businesses in our state that want to join a national effort to conserve resources while creating and sustaining the built environment in Louisiana.

OUR MISSION

The USGBC-LA will continually promote the principles and concepts of green building practices in the State of Louisiana to assist the US Green Building Council national organization in the protection of the environment and the reduction of the consumption of precious resources. As Louisiana rebuilds its Gulf coast economy and wetlands, USGBC-LA will provide a visible platform for advancing sustainable building principles and environmentally responsible practices that improve environmental protection, economic development and social equity.

With the help of Louisiana businesses, everyone in Louisiana wins. Building green makes both environmental and economic sense. We can transform the market with the support of industry leaders and top-rated educational programs to ensure the places we live, work and go to school are environmentally friendly, healthy and profitable.
